Scientist Turned Entrepreneur

Why outside Academia?

28 April 2021 | 16 to 17 (CET) | Online Webinar

Dr. Dawid Nidzworski

Dawid is an award-winning scientist, innovator, and popularizer of science, a holder of VIPI (Very Important Polish Innovator) title. From the earliest years of his scientific career, he was absorbed by entrepreneurship. To reconcile these two areas, he became the founder of start-ups in the field of life-science, which are currently making their way to become one of the most promising biotechnology companies in Poland. Two of them, SensDx and GeneMe, are providing pioneering diagnostic solutions, making the tests for infectious diseases more efficient and accessible.

In this SPARK Europe Innovator Café, Dawid will share his personal experience as a scientist turned entrepreneur and give insights on valuable lessons learned, pitfalls he met along the way. Join the meeting and explore the fascinating world of science entrepreneurship with our guest.

Online via Zoom | Please register here.

SPARK is an initiative created at Stanford University, to overcome challenges associated with translation of academic discoveries.

In unforeseen cases, the organizers may change and update topics and speakers.
